The Beloit Cancer Center offers comprehensive cancer services in one location. This exceptional facility offers advanced technology, integrative therapies, and the most important resource of all, staff who have the skill and compassion to be with our patients every step of the way.

When cancer touches someone in our community, we want the best for them. That is why Beloit Health System and the UW Carbone Cancer Center are collaborating to provide excellent defense against cancer.

Dr. Peter Mahler, UW radiation oncologist, and Dr. Walter Vogel, medical oncologist, are the cancer specialists on site. Dr. Shelly Johnsen, family practice and palliative care, provides integrative medicine services. These physicians, along with our surgical team, have the advantage of:

- Using many of UW Health’s collaborative treatment protocols
- Video conferencing with UW Carbone Cancer Center
- Access to clinical trials
- Sharing quality initiatives

Cancer Center services include medical oncology, chemotherapy and infusion, advanced radiation therapy, patient support benefits and a team approach to cancer care.

The Center’s Cancer Team helps those in our region affected by cancer by giving them the best technology, expertise and support.
Multidisciplinary Care

Our cancer patients are treated individually, based on their needs. The multidisciplinary team includes surgeons, medical and radiation oncologists, pulmonologists, radiologists, pathologists, palliative care specialists, nurses, dietitians, support staff and more - all working to support patients through their journeys to prevent or beat cancer.

Team Approach to Cancer Care

Medical Oncologist. Triple board-certified in Internal Medicine, Medical Oncology and Hematology. He has practiced in Beloit since 1987.

Peter Mahler, MD, PhD (right)
Radiation Oncologist. Board-certified physician, clinical professor of Human Oncology at the UW School of Medicine and Public Health. He practices full-time at Beloit Cancer Center.

The Patient Experience

• The Cancer Center focuses on the patient and family experience with coordinated care, excellent communication and collaboration, and a goal of patient comfort.

• The UW Carbone Cancer Center is the only comprehensive cancer center in Wisconsin as designated by the National Cancer Institute. By working together, we can offer this advanced care in Beloit.

• The new Elekta® Linear Accelerator offers advanced cancer treatment and is used by some of the premiere cancer facilities in the country.

• With new Image Guided Radiation capabilities, we can now pinpoint the radiation to the exact location of the cancer cells, even changing the radiation location with the slightest movement of a patient’s breath.

• Our medical oncology area offers 15 private or semi-private infusion areas with large windows.

• We offer a lab and medication preparation area in the Cancer Center for your convenience. Also, an integrative therapy room offers massage, support and holistic care. An education area will host speakers and help patients find new ways to prevent or live with cancer.

Healing Environment

• The beautiful 22,000 square foot center is built on more than five acres conveniently located on the corner of Lee Lane and Milwaukee Roads (Hwy 81) in Beloit. Close to major highways including Hwy 43 and I-90.

• There is a scenic pond with two fountains, serenity pond, and a flowing stream with waterfalls providing a pleasing environment for patients.

• Paved walkways and seating areas are placed around the ponds and prairie for patient and family enjoyment.
